

Michelle Lim works as an engineer for Distribution Engineering at Xcel Energy in Denver, CO. She has worked on testing, research and analysis on different distribution-scale energy storage projects for Xcel Energy since 2014. She received her BS in Aerospace Engineering and MS in Electrical Engineering from Wichita State University and her PhD in Electrical Engineering from University of Colorado-Boulder.