

Kara Cook is Governor Whitmer's Senior Advisor on Energy and the Environment. In this role, she develops and advances policies, coordinates state departments, and mobilizes diverse stakeholders to help meet the Governor's goals. Prior to joining the Governor's office, she served on the Whitmer-Gilchrist transition where she helped set an agenda for the Governor's first 100 days in office. Previously, she worked in government affairs at the Michigan League of Conservation Voters. Kara is a lifelong Michigander and lives in Lansing.